

ABOUT

With over a decade of experience as head chef at some of Melbourne's most loved venues, Ami Singh is no stranger to the city's culinary scene. Today, Ami is proud to share his passion for cooking a range of cuisines both at work and at home, leading him to the world of mobile catering with Delicatus Catering.

Traveling the world has inspired Ami to be creative in the kitchen and serve delicious food and warm hospitality that his customers deserve.

Cooking is Ami's first love (outside of his family!), but care for the environment is also an important aspect of his new business venture. Delicatus caters seven days a week, and drop-off is available.
