Assistant Director / 2nd AC / Production Services

I am an ambitious and motivated Melbourne-based filmmaker with a fervency to learn new skills and work collaboratively to achieve the optimum result on every production I'm a part of. Recently graduated from a scholarship for Film and Television at Swinburne University, I actively immerse myself in a wide range of projects and roles to foster valuable relationships, hone my skills and produce powerful storytelling media to the utmost calibre. My ultimate ambitions are to direct and shoot long-form projects of my own, however, my current focus and passion lies in the camera department and production services, where I am experience rich. Confident in my ability and always eager to learn, I strive to facilitate an inclusive and welcoming community on set from the ground up.

7th of January, 2025.

Dear Sir / Madam, you are reading this letter because you are possibly considering hiring Finn Robilliard. I had the advantage of working with Finn on two productions by World Wide Mind.

My name is Ben Nott. I am the founder and a film director of World Wide Mind. We are an award winning production company based in the United States. But as an Australian, I regularly film in Australia. Which is where I met Finn. I was also in your position - considering hiring him, or someone with a better fit for the production.

Viewing samples of Finn's film work gave me confidence in his ability to operate the B camera on our feature documentary, with a working title of How Far. Then upon meeting Finn, his attitude, technical skills, enthusiasm, listening qualities and professional manner convinced me he was the best person for the job.

So we hired Finn. Not only did he exceed all of my team's expectations, and helped out in all departments, but he added an intangible spirit of high quality, enjoyable film making... that, for me, embodied why most of us started and stay, in this challenging industry.

After this positive working experience with Finn, we knew he is a valuable asset and subtle motivational fuel for any production. So we hired him to help with development and pre-production and some production on a feature length documentary titled Come To The Edge. The film follows the 2024 Australian Olympic Surfing team, which played nationally in prime time viewing schedules on Channel 9. As Finn was completing his film studies he was not able to attend all of the production stages, which involved a lot of international travel. However, knowing Finn's unique abilities he is on our "call them first" list for Australian productions.

Finn's graduation film proves his directing talents, and his experience in other departments make him a reliable choice for many production roles. So it is obvious that I fully recommend Finn Robilliard as a wise choice for your production needs.

For any further recommendations or questions, don't hesitate to contact me.

Wishing Finn and your production much success.

Sincerely, Ben Nott.
Director.
